

the biking in general is easy	Less fast ebikes and courriers on the bike lanes.
It's the fastest and cheapest option	The longe fleetstraat could be improved
The layout and space for the bikers are really good and organised	More places to park
Good roads, good rules. I don't have any complaints	Sometimes you do miss having spaces outside of the garages to park your bike if you don't want it to get stolen or totalled
Biking is (almost) fully integrated in the city plan	It can be pretty busy at rush hours.
Bikinglanes, good signs	Other People in traffic are often rude and agressive even to small childeren. More space for faster electric bikes.
I like that everything is nearby	What could be improved is the road. Sometimes there is no road for bicycles
I like routes where you have priority, trafic lights will wait for you if possible.	Maybe clearer bike lanes as they sometimes can look like pathways:)
You can get everywhere within 15 min	more clearly marked biking paths , is unclear where they are at times
Its well organised, feel like there are bike highways.	Most times you are faster by bike then by car Sometimes it can be stressful
